(2) For the purposes of subsection (1)(a)(ii) the expression “funeral expenses” shall be deemed to include all incidental and ancillary expenses which the member may incur in connection with the death and is not restricted to the payment of the funeral expenses.

6. (1) Every society to which this Act applies shall be registered under this Act; and it shall be deemed to be a sufficient compliance with the provisions of this section if, before any subscriptions or fees are collected from any member, the Registrar, by writing under his hand, permits any person named therein (hereinafter referred to as a “permitted person”) to take the necessary steps for the formation of a society and the society is in fact registered within six months of the permission being given.

(2) In the event of any contravention of the provisions of this section, every secretary, trustee, member of the committee, or other officer of an unregistered society is liable to a fine of twenty dollars for every day during which the society remains unregistered.

(3) Every permitted person shall while such society is in process of formation cause to be kept proper books of account with respect to all subscriptions or fees received and all sums of money expended by such person and the matters in respect of which the receipts and expenditure take place and shall immediately prior to the registration of the society or at the end of the period of six months, whichever occurs sooner, send to the Registrar a true return signed by him of the receipts and expenditure, funds and effects collected, received and expended by him while the society was in process of formation.

(4) If it is shown that proper books of account were not kept by the permitted person throughout the period of six months immediately preceding the registration of the society the permitted person shall unless he shows that he acted honestly or that in the circumstances in which the affairs of the society in formation were carried on the default was excusable, be liable on summary conviction to a fine of one thousand dollars or to imprisonment for six months.

(5) The Registrar shall on being satisfied that any member or other person has subscribed to the funds so collected or received or has an interest therein permit that member or other person to inspect without payment of any fee the return at the office of the Registrar during the usual or customary hours of business.

(6) The Registrar may at any time either before or after the registration of a society order the books, accounts, vouchers, documents, securities and funds of the society during the period it was unregistered or in course of formation to be inspected or audited by some fit and proper person appointed by him; and the permitted person and every secretary, treasurer, trustee and member of the committee or other officer of the society shall make available to the person so appointed all the books, accounts, vouchers, documents, securities and funds of the society for purposes of inspection or audit. The Registrar may order the person to be paid out of the funds of the unregistered society or society in formation or by Government as he may deem fit, such fee not exceeding such sum as may be prescribed.

7. (1) A society shall not be registered under this Act unless it consists of thirty-five persons at least.

(2) For the purpose of registration, there shall be sent to the Registrar an application to register the society, signed by seven members and the secretary, and two copies of the rules, together with a list of the names and addresses of the secretary, the treasurer, every member of the committee, and every trustee or other officer intended to be authorised to sue and be sued on behalf of the society and of other members intending to join the society in order to constitute a minimum membership of thirty-five.

(3) The rules of the society so sent shall, according to the class in which the society is to be registered, contain provisions in respect of the several matters mentioned in the First Schedule.

(4) Any society or branch registered under this Act the rules of which do not make adequate provisions in respect of the several matters mentioned in the First Schedule or required by regulations made under this Act, shall, upon notice in writing from the Registrar to that effect, forthwith amend or supplement its rules by including therein, the necessary provisions required by such notice to be made.

(5) If the list is signed by the secretary, the treasurer, every member of the committee, and every trustee and other officer named therein, it shall on the registration of the society be evidence that the persons so signing have been duly appointed. The list shall be open to inspection by any person on payment of a fee of twenty-five cents in respect of any one registered society, and any such person shall be entitled to take notes or extracts therefrom.

8. A society shall not be registered under a name identical with that under which any other existing society is registered, or so nearly resembling that name as to be likely, or in any name likely, in the opinion of the Registrar, to deceive the members or the public as to its nature or its identity.

9. The Registrar, on being satisfied that a society has complied with the provisions of this Act as to registration shall issue to that society an acknowledgment of registration specifying the designation of the society according to the classification set forth in this Act, and this acknowledgment shall be conclusive evidence that the society therein mentioned is duly registered, unless it is proved that the registration of the society has been suspended or cancelled.
10. (1) From a refusal to register a society, an appeal shall lie by the society to a Judge of the High Court sitting in Chambers.

(2) If the refusal to register is overruled on appeal the Registrar shall give an acknowledgment of registration to the society.

11. (1) An amendment of a rule made by a society shall not be valid until the amendment has been registered under this Act, for which purpose copies of the amendment, signed by three members and the secretary, shall be sent to the Registrar.

(2) The Registrar shall, on being satisfied that any amendment of a rule is not contrary to the provisions of this Act, issue to the society an acknowledgment of registration of the amendment and that acknowledgment shall be conclusive evidence that the amendment is duly registered.

(3) The provisions of this Act as to appeals from a refusal to register a society shall apply to a refusal to register an amendment of a rule.

12. A society (other than a benevolent society or workingmen’s club) shall not be disentitled to registration by reason of any rule for or practice of dividing any part of the funds thereof if the rules of the society contain distinct provision for meeting all claims upon the society existing at the time of division before any such division takes place.

13. A society providing for the endowment of a member or the nominee of a member at any age, or assuring a certain annuity, shall not be entitled to registration, unless the tables of contributions for such respective benefits or assurance, certified by some actuary approved by the Registrar, who has exercised the profession of actuary for at least five years, are sent to the Registrar with the application for registration.

SOCIETIES WITH BRANCHES

14. (1) Where a society has branches, the application for registration shall be accompanied with—

(a) a list of all the branches, and notice of the place where the registered office of each branch is situated;

(d) evidence of registration and of the appointment of trustees and officers, shall apply to branches and amendments of branch rules.

17. (1) A body which has been registered as a branch of a society shall not be registered as a society except on production to the Registrar of a certificate, under the hand of the chief secretary or other principal officer of the society of which it was a branch, that the body has wholly seceded or has been expelled from the society.

(2) An appeal shall lie from the refusal of the chief secretary or other principal officer of the society, or his omission, after three months from the receipt of a request in writing made on behalf of the body to grant a certificate, to a Judge of the High Court sitting in Chambers.

18. A body which, having been a branch of a society, has wholly seceded or been expelled from that society shall not thereafter use the name of that society or any name implying that it is a branch thereof, or the number by which it was designated as such branch.

19. A society or branch may contribute to the funds, and take part by delegates or otherwise in the government of any other society or branch of a society, as provided in the rules of that first-named society or branch, without becoming a branch under this Act of that other society or branch.

shall, subject to the express provisions of this section, be decided in manner directed by the rules of the society or branch and the decision so given shall be binding and conclusive on all parties.
without appeal, and shall not be removable into any Court or restrainable by injunction; and application for the enforcement thereof may be made to any Magistrate except that the parties to the dispute may at any time by consent refer the dispute to the Registrar who shall have power to hear and determine the dispute as if it were a dispute ab initio before him as herein provided.

(2) Any party to a dispute in a society or branch may apply to the Registrar to hear and determine the same, and the Registrar may, if he thinks fit, and after proper notice given to the other parties to the dispute, hear and determine the dispute; but the Registrar may before proceeding to hear or determine a dispute make or cause a preliminary investigation to be made into the dispute with the object of ascertaining the facts and limiting the issues and of endeavouring to bring about a voluntary settlement between the parties to the dispute.

(8) Where no decision is made on a dispute within forty days after application to the society or branch for a reference under its rules, the member, officer, person or branch aggrieved may apply to the Registrar, who shall hear and determine the matter in dispute; but in the case of a society with branches the forty days shall not begin to run until the application has been made in succession to all the bodies entitled to determine the dispute under the rules of the society or branch, so however that no rules shall require a greater delay than three months between each successive determination.

(9) Notwithstanding anything contained in the Arbitration Act or in any other Act, any arbitrator or umpire to whom a dispute is referred under the rules of a society or branch or the Registrar to whom a dispute is referred or application is made to hear and determine a dispute under this section shall not be compelled to state a special case on any question of law arising in the case, but the Registrar may, if he thinks fit, or, at the request of either party, state a case for the opinion of the High Court, on any question of law, and may also grant to either party such discovery as to documents and otherwise, or such inspection of documents, as might be granted by the High Court, and the discovery shall be made on behalf of the society or branch by such officer thereof as the High Court or Registrar may determine.

(10) In this section, the expression “dispute” includes any dispute arising on the question whether a member or person aggrieved is entitled to be or to continue to be a member or to be reinstated as a member, but, save as aforesaid, in the case of a person who has ceased to be a member, does not include any dispute other than a dispute on a question between him and the society or branch or an officer thereof which arose whilst he was a member, or arises out of his previous relation as a member to that society or branch.

However, the Registrar may suspend his award for such period as he may deem necessary to enable the society or branch to make such alterations and adjustment of contributions and benefits as will in his judgment prevent the necessity of the award of dissolution being made.

Total Cash Income $
Total Cash Expenditure $
NOTE — The principal points to be attended to in connection with this Account are—

1. Receipts and Expenditure. It must be carefully remembered that this is not a mere Cash Account, giving particulars of cash received and cash expended. Accordingly such items as—

   (a) Cash withdrawn from bank or cash paid into bank,

   (b) Cash expended in purchase of investments, or cash received on sale of investments, or on discharge of mortgages, etc., etc.,

must not appear beyond entering as a profit or loss, as the case may be, the difference between the amount received and the amount at which the asset previously stood in the Society’s Balance Sheet.

2. Interest on the funds which have become due and payable in the course of the year should appear as a receipt, and if not actually paid at end of year will appear in the assets of the Balance Sheet as interest due and unpaid.
3. Where under the rule separate funds are required to be kept for the various benefits, the amounts of these various funds should always be stated separately in the Balance Sheet.

4. Each Account must be correctly added up.

5. The totals at the bottom, on the opposite sides of each Account, must be the same.

“secretary” includes any officer appointed under the Rules of a society or branch to assist the secretary in the discharge of his duties.

2. All applications for the approval by a Magistrate of the cancellation of the registration of a society under section 76(1)(a) of the Act, shall be made in the form numbered 29 in the Second Schedule to the Act.

3. Appeals to a Judge under sections 10(1), 11(3), 17(2) and 76(8) of the Act shall be brought in the High Court by the party or society affected, and shall be commenced by Originating Summons returnable before a Judge sitting in Chambers; the summons shall be taken out within thirty days of the decision of the Registrar in cases under sections 10(1) and 11(3), of the refusal of the officer of the society concerned in cases under section 17(2), and of the date of the Gazette in which the advertisement of the dissolution or suspension of registration of a society appears in cases under section 76(8) of the Act. The Rules of the Supreme Court from time to time in force shall (except in and so far as otherwise provided by these Regulations) apply to all proceedings in any such appeal.

4. The summons shall be headed with a reference to the Act, and also with a reference to the decision of the Registrar or Magistrate or officer of the society which is appealed against, and shall contain a concise statement of the grounds of the appeal, and no grounds other than those comprised in the statement shall be allowed to be taken by the appellant at the hearing of the summons.
5. The summons shall be served on the Registrar (save in the case of an appeal under section 17(2) of the Act when service shall be effected on the officer of the society refusing or omitting to grant a certificate of secession or expulsion) not less than fourteen days before the date on which it is made returnable, and the Judge may at the hearing or adjourned hearing of the summons direct that the same may be served on any other person or persons that the Judge may think proper.

6. In all proceedings on any such appeal the costs of and incidental thereto, including the costs of and incidental to any proceedings before the Registrar or Magistrate, shall be in the discretion of the Judge.

7. The committee of management of every society and branch shall cause proper books of accounts to be kept, including a blotter, cash books for both the secretary and the treasurer, a register of members, a record of benefits paid to members and a general ledger so arranged as to exhibit on one side all the sums at the debit of the account of each particular fund or benefit assured by the society and on the other all the sums at the credit of each account.

8. The committee of management of every society or branch shall file with the Registrar half-yearly an inspection and administration report to be signed by every member thereof as to his having personally inspected the books and accounts, funds and effects of the society or branch and as to the same having been found to be correct and in order or otherwise as the case may be. The report shall be in the Form numbered 21 set out in Part IV of the Second Schedule to the Act or as near as may be, as the circumstances of the case shall require.

9. The annual Balance Sheet of every society and branch shall contain a statement as to the amount carried to the Reserve Fund established under section 114 of the Act during the year under review.
10. Proper vouchers shall be obtained for every payment. Every receipt given by an illiterate, infirm or other person incapable of writing to a society or branch in respect of money payable under or by virtue of its Rules or of the Act for a benefit arising out of the death of a member or any other person shall be witnessed by a Justice of the Peace, an Attorney-at-law, Medical Practitioner, Minister of Religion, or a member of the Trinidad and Tobago Police Service not below the rank of corporal.

11. The following provisions shall be observed in every society and branch:

(a) all cash balances must be paid into the bank on the last day of the period to be reviewed;

(b) the books shall be balanced and the statements for audit prepared in duplicate prior to the handing over of the accounts to the auditor. The Secretary shall sign the receipts and expenditure account and Balance Sheet before they are submitted to the auditor;

(c) for the purpose of audit all vouchers of payment shall be arranged in the order of the dates of entries made in the treasurer’s cash book of the year to be reviewed;

(e) the funds of the society or branch shall be invested in strict accordance with the provisions of the Act. The investment of moneys on notes of hand and other personal securities is not legal;

(f) the funds of a society or branch shall not be employed or used for promoting excursions, or in alms-giving, donations to public causes or funds except in accordance with the provisions of section 35 of the Act, or to officers or members, or for rallies, dances, balls, concerts, or other social occasions or enterprises. The said funds shall only be used in furthering, the objects of a society or branch and not otherwise;

(g) the funds of a society or branch shall not be used for furnishing refreshments for the general body or officers and members of the committee of management save that a sum not exceeding seventy-five cents may be expended monthly in providing ice for the use of the officers and members of the committee of management in session;

(h) the financial year of every society and branch shall end on the last day of December.

12. If at any time it appears to the Registrar that in the return prepared and delivered to him under section 26 of the Act the value placed by any society or branch upon the real property owned by it or any parcel thereof is too great, or too small, or that the value of any other investments of the funds therein stated is greater or less than the value of the investments shown on the return, he may either require the society or branch to secure an appraisement of the real estate or the security by some competent valuator, or may himself procure the appraisement at the expense of the society or branch, and the appraised value, if it varies materially from the return made by the society or branch, may be substituted therefor.

13. If, at any time, it appears to the Registrar that the accounts of a society or branch are not kept in such a manner as to show correctly the state and condition of the society or branch as required under the Act, the Registrar may nominate an auditor or accountant to give such instructions as will enable the officers of the society or branch to keep the accounts correctly thereafter, and the cost thereof shall be borne by the society or branch.

14. If the Registrar, upon inquiry or other examination, or from the returns, or from the special report of an auditor, or upon other evidence, finds that the receipts and funds of a society or branch are insufficient to justify the continuance of the current expenses of management and administration or of any other expenses, or that the rates of salaries or other allowances paid to its officers and members are excessive, unfairly discriminatory, or otherwise unreasonable, he may call upon the society or branch to reduce the whole or any item thereof and may fix a limit therefor which shall in no case be exceeded until further direction from him.

15. Once in every year, not later than 31st March, a schedule of all investments and property, real and personal, of, belonging or mortgaged to a society or branch showing the value thereof, as at the preceding 31st December, and the rents, profits or interest arising annually therefrom, shall be prepared and signed by the secretary and checked and countersigned by the trustees and hung up in a conspicuous place at the registered office of the society or branch or laid on the table of the secretary for inspection of members, for the space of two months or during at least four consecutive meetings of the society or branch, whichever is the less. A copy of every such annual schedule in respect of the year under review shall be produced by the secretary to the auditor at the annual audit of the society or branch.

16. No bonus or payment in the nature thereof shall be paid or made out of the Reserve Fund of a society or branch established under section 114 of the Act.

17. In the case of a society or branch whose Rules provide for the payment of bonus annually to its members the committee of management shall depute yearly such officers and members, as it may think fit, to draw up and prepare the bonus list of the society or branch and pay the amounts respectively payable to members therein appearing. For the due and proper fulfilment of such duties there shall be allowed to the officers and members deputed as aforesaid allowances on the moneys so paid out at the following rates:

- two per cent on the amount distributed up to five thousand dollars;
one per cent on the next five thousand dollars or any part thereof;
one-half per cent on any additional amount.

The allowances herein provided shall be based on the aggregate of the net amount paid out and shall be divisible among such officers and members in such proportions as the committee of management shall decide.

18. Where by the Rules of a society or branch, provision is made for the payment of bonus to members the annual bonus list shall be prepared in the forms set out in Part IV of the Second Schedule to the Act and shall contain a statement as to the bonus declared by the society or branch for the year under reference, the registered number of and name of every member entitled to bonus under the Rules of the society or branch, the deductions to be made, if any, against every such member respectively, the balance or amount individually receivable by every such member, and his receipt therefor, the aggregate amount paid out as bonus for the said year, and a certificate signed at the foot or end thereof by the officers and members deputed by the committee to execute the payments that the same have been duly and truly effected. The mark or signature of an illiterate person in receipt of bonus shall be witnessed by an independent person. Every person receiving bonus shall produce his or her current contribution card for stamping.

19. The treasurer of every society and branch shall lay the last bonus list of the society or branch duly certified by the officers and members required, on his table for the inspection of members for the space of two months or during at least four consecutive meetings of the society or branch, whichever is the less, following payment thereof.

20. No officer or servant of a society or branch shall draw or receive any bonus for or on behalf of a member of the society or branch except at the express desire in writing of the member or on production of the member’s card.
21. Every society shall cause full and proper minutes of all proceedings of its general and special meetings and of all committee meetings to be entered in a book or books kept for the purpose.

22. Notwithstanding anything in the Rules of a society or branch to the contrary no meeting of any kind whatsoever shall take place or continue, and no subscriptions, levies or fines or other moneys shall be paid into the funds of a society or branch or to any officer thereof, between the hours of eleven o’clock in the night and six o’clock of the following morning.

23. It shall not be necessary to give or serve notice of any general or regular meeting, the time or times for the holding of which are specifically stated in the Rules of a society or branch, upon any member respectively thereof, anything to the contrary in the Rules or constitution of the society or branch notwithstanding.

24. Notice of a special meeting of a society or branch shall be deemed to have been given or served upon every member of the society or branch if a notification thereof is stuck up in a conspicuous place in the registered office of the society or branch, as the case may be, for at least fourteen clear days previous to the special meeting, or in the alternative, if notice thereof is published once a week in a daily newspaper circulating in Trinidad and Tobago during at least two consecutive weeks immediately prior to the special meeting, anything to the contrary in the Rules or constitution of the society or branch notwithstanding.

25. The committee of management shall present yearly to the general body in general meeting a statement of accounts with respect to the operation of the society’s loan fund, if any, showing the loans outstanding, deposits on hand, a report as to the instalments or repayments due and unpaid, the action proposed to be taken in each case and a general review of the operation of the fund.
26. Notwithstanding the functions or powers of any other committee under the Rules of a society the committee of management shall satisfy itself that the provisions of the Act, and of any Regulations thereunder, and all Rules relating to the operation of a loan fund, have been complied with, and shall consider whether there has been any alteration in the status of any borrower or his sureties, if any, which would justify special action being taken for the termination of any loan.

27. If the loan is repayable by instalments the borrower shall be supplied with a card or book (for which he shall pay a sum not exceeding six cents) in which shall be recorded the amount and the terms of the loan and in which the instalments repaid shall be entered and initialled by the officer to whom the money is paid.

28. Except in the cases where the committee of management renews a promissory note at maturity so soon as the debt or moneys due in respect of any loan made from a loan fund shall become due and payable by a member to a society, the committee of management shall, except for good cause, forthwith take all reasonable and necessary steps to sue for recovery and receive such debt or moneys and all interest due thereon together with all legal, usual and customary costs, charges and expenses.

29. Except the Registrar shall otherwise order, the trustees of every society or branch shall deposit any securities, State Grants and other muniments of title held by them relating to the society or branch or to the property of the society or branch in the aggregate exceeding the value of five thousand dollars with any banker or banking company or any other company whose business includes the undertaking of the safe custody or control of documents, and any sum payable in respect of the deposit shall be paid out of the funds of the society or branch.

30. Every financial member of a society or branch shall at any meeting held for the election of an officer or officers on production of his current contribution card, be furnished with a voting slip, if the chairman thinks it necessary, at the registered office or other place of meeting where the election is to take place.
31. At all meetings of a society or branch voting shall be by ballot or show of hands as required by the Rules of the society or branch.

However, where the Rules are silent, the majority of financial members present shall determine which of such methods shall be followed. Only financial members present and entitled to vote under the Rules of the society or branch may vote. No member shall vote for more than one candidate for one office. A member shall in no circumstances whatsoever vote by proxy.

32. Not more than one office may be voted for at one time. Officers shall not be elected en bloc save in the case of the election to office of the entire committee of management by acclamation, that is to say, without any dissentient vote or protest.

33. Except in the case of the office of trustee, no person shall be a candidate for any office unless he is a financial member of the society or branch.

34. No candidate shall be submitted for election except his proposer and seconder are both financial members of the society or branch.

35. No member may propose or second more than one person for one office.

36. No member may preside at his own election or re-election to office.

37. (1) Two or more tellers, as the case may be, shall be appointed by the chairman for the purpose of counting the votes.

(2) If the chairman thinks it necessary, votes may be counted in groups, that is to say, those supporting candidate A may be collected into one group; those supporting candidate B may be collected in another group, and so on, with the formation of as many groups as there are candidates.
38. A member under the age of twenty-one years shall not hold an elective office in a society or branch.

39. Probationary members, that is to say, members who have not yet qualified for benefits, are not eligible for office.

40. In the event of the failure of an election in respect of any office, those previously appointed shall continue in office pending the holding of a valid election as respects the office. Every officer shall remain in office until the installation of his successor.

41. Where the Rules of a society or branch are silent retiring members shall be eligible for re-election.

42. The committee of management of every society and branch shall issue to every member a contribution card in the prescribed form, and the secretary shall enter thereon from time to time all payments made by the member in respect of entrance fee, monthly or weekly contributions, as the case may be, anniversary, subscription, levies, dues, fines, arrears and other payments made under the Rules of the society or branch. Every entry shall be initialled by the secretary. Every card shall contain the necessary columns to provide for all the above entries from 1st January to 31st December in any one year. No card shall be issued to a member unless and until it is signed by the secretary and the president.

43. Every card whenever issued shall be returned to the secretary as soon as possible after 31st December of the year of its issue but in no event later than 31st January of the year following its issue, and no card for the following year shall be issued to a member until he has returned his card for the previous year or satisfactorily accounted for its loss. The secretary shall furnish the committee of management with a list of those members who have failed to return their cards by the 31st January as required hereunder and the committee of management of a society shall enquire into the reason or reasons for the non-return of every card not on the list, and may impose a fine not exceeding five dollars on any member of the society who has failed so to return his card.
44. All cards returned by members shall be kept by the secretary and submitted for audit along with the list showing the action taken in each case by the committee of management as respects those members who have failed to return their cards as hereunder provided.

45. The secretary of every society or branch shall supply the auditor for the purposes of the annual audit with a certified list of the amount of contributions, dues, levies, and fines in arrear as respects every individual member in respect of every particular fund for the year under review; and the auditor shall check and verify the items therein appearing with the register of members and contribution cards of the society or branch.

46. Every society and branch shall under its Rules have full power and authority to enforce discipline among its members and obedience to its said Rules and to expel or otherwise discipline its members. However, notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in the Rules of a society or branch a member shall be entitled to be fully informed of any charges against him, with the opportunity to be heard in his own defence, before he can lawfully be suspended or deprived of membership.

47. The accounts of every society and branch shall close on 31st December in every year, and shall be submitted together with vouchers, receipts, and all other supporting documents not later than 31st May in each year to audit at the cost and charge of the society or branch to a person nominated by the Minister.*

48. (1) The annual audit under the Act shall extend to the whole of the accounts of the society or branch.

(2) The auditor shall make himself acquainted so far as necessary for the purpose of the audit with the provisions of the *Delegation of powers to—

(a) Minister of Health and Social Services (GN 34/1957);
(b) Minister of Social Services (GN 55/1958).
Act, any amendment thereto and the Regulations made thereunder, and with the Rules of the particular society or branch, the accounts of which he is auditing.

(3) The auditor shall satisfy himself—

(a) as to the accuracy and sufficiency of the books and accounts of the society or branch and that all transactions of the society or branch are correctly and adequately recorded therein;

(b) that all payments made are duly vouched and have been authorised in the manner prescribed by the Act, or by these Regulations;

(c) that so far as reasonably practicable all sums received and all payments made by the society or branch for the period have been brought to account;

(d) that where separate contributions are paid to particular funds these have been stated separately and that any payments from the funds have been correctly charged thereto; and

(e) that the accounts submitted to him for audit are drawn up in the form and disclose such particulars as are prescribed or required under the Act or by these Regulations.

(4) Should there be errors in the annual return, or in the books, accounts, vouchers or other documents submitted to the auditor, the books, accounts, vouchers or other documents shall be returned (at the cost of the society) for correction or adjustment, unless the auditor is requested by the society to correct the inaccuracies, in which case he shall be entitled to claim an additional fee to be arranged between him and the society, the amount however, to be paid personally by the officer or officers respectively responsible for the particular error or errors, as the case may be. In the event of any dispute arising between the society and the auditor relating to any matter or thing under this section either party shall be at liberty to refer the same to the Registrar whose decision shall be final.
49. For the purpose of carrying into effect the provisions of the Act and of these Regulations the auditor shall at every audit make such investigations as may be necessary, interrogate officers or persons concerned and examine accounts.

50. Where any accounts of a society or branch are to be audited by an auditor appointed under the provisions of the Act the secretary of the society or branch shall make out and deliver to the auditor a list in writing of all vouchers, receipts, invoices and other supporting documents and the books of the society or branch in which the accounts of the society or branch are kept.

51. The auditor of every society or branch shall at every audit personally examine the securities, State Grants and other muniments of title belonging to the society or branch where these are in the possession of the society or branch, or he shall obtain a certificate from the Bank of what securities, State Grants or other muniments of title the Bank holds for the society or branch in safe keeping at the close of business on the day to which the accounts are made up and audited.

52. Every auditor shall verify every annual Balance Sheet and shall either certify that it is correct and in accordance with law, or specially report to the society or branch and the Registrar in what respect he finds it defective, incorrect, or not in accordance with law.

53. The person appointed to audit the accounts of a society or branch shall send to the Registrar within three months of the accounts being submitted to him for audit a statement of the funds or affairs including receipts and expenditure and a copy of the Balance Sheet of the society or branch made out to the preceding 31st December together with full, honest and true answers to the questionnaire addressed to him by the registrar relating to the books and accounts of the society or branch and in the event of there being any misapplication or wrongful withholding of the funds, moneys or property of the society or branch by any person or persons a special report thereon.
54. (1) Upon every audit of the accounts of a society or branch the auditor shall examine every entry in the books of the society or branch; and under no circumstances whatsoever may the accuracy of the accounts be verified by test checks.

(2) The auditor shall demand a voucher for every item of expenditure and in the case of sick, death and funeral benefits to compare the books of account with the contribution cards of those who received the benefits, and to satisfy himself that those who received the benefits were in good compliance or standing and entitled to be paid.

(3) The auditor shall also require to be produced a certificate of death, in accordance with the provisions of section 56 of the Act, in respect of every death and funeral benefit paid by the society or branch.

55. Any sum surcharged by the auditor or any balance certified by him to be due shall be paid into the office of the Registrar by the person or persons who are surcharged or from whom the balance is certified to be due within thirty days after delivery of the special report to the society or branch and to the Registrar, and if not paid within the time aforesaid, the person or persons in default may be proceeded against in accordance with the provisions of the Act. In the event of default being made by any such person the surety or sureties of such person shall be informed in writing of the default by the Registrar and unless the amount due shall be paid by the surety or sureties into the office of the Registrar within a period of thirty days after the demand, the surety or sureties may be proceeded against in accordance with the provisions of the Act. In the event of any person or persons dying without having fully paid the sum surcharged or balance certified to be due, the same may be recovered by the Registrar as a civil debt from the legal personal representatives of the deceased person or persons. On any proceedings under this Regulation a certificate purporting to be signed by the auditor shall be conclusive evidence of the fact certified.
56. If it appears to any auditor to whom the accounts of a society or branch have been submitted under the Act, that any item of account is contrary to law, or that any money or income which ought to have been brought into account has not been so brought into account, the auditor shall disallow the item of account and shall in his special report surcharge the amount of any unlawful payment or expenditure, or of any loss or deficiency, upon the committee of management of the society or branch, or upon any officer or member thereof, or upon any other person by whose negligence or wrongful act that payment or expenditure has been made or authorised or that loss or deficiency has been incurred. However, any item of account disallowed or surcharged by the auditor may be reviewed by the Registrar and the disallowance or surcharge varied or remitted by him if he is of opinion that in the circumstances of the case it is fair and equitable to do so.

57. Where in the opinion of an auditor the annual return or Balance Sheet of a society or branch shows that the society or branch is not in a position to provide for the payment of its benefits at the rates in force without increase in its existing rates of contribution or that owing to depletion in membership, excessive mortality, sickness, epidemic, or other cause, its funds are insufficient or are likely to be insufficient to provide in the future for the payment thereof, he shall specially report the same to the Registrar and in the report shall set out all material facts relating to its financial condition as in his opinion warrant alteration in its existing rates of contribution. The Registrar after consideration of the report may call upon the society or branch to make within such time as he may fix, but not exceeding six months, such increase in its rate of contributions as will enable the society or branch to provide for the payment of its benefits at the rates in force, or alternatively such reduction in the benefits payable by the society or branch, as will permit and justify its continuance upon a sound and solvent basis.

58. The Registrar may appoint an actuary, auditor, accountant, or other qualified person to review for any period the operation of any society or branch proposing or intending to give a benefit payable on the death of a member exceeding two hundred and fifty dollars, and make a report to him on the financial condition of the society or branch and the adequacy or otherwise of the subscriptions received by the society or branch or of its funds to support the benefits or bonus moneys payable by the society or branch having regard to the obligations or liabilities of the society or branch under its Rules or any proposed Rules, the cost of every such report to be borne and paid by the society or branch.

59. Every auditor shall, if he thinks fit, set out, in answer to the questionnaire submitted to him under the Act in relation to the audit of the accounts of a society or branch, such requirements and recommendations as he may think desirable for the better operation of the society or branch or the better arrangement of its accounts, and in the discretion of the Registrar effect shall be given thereto by the committee of management within such time as may be directed by him.

60. Auditors are not entitled to travelling expenses save with the express leave of the Registrar. Books and documents must be delivered or posted to the auditor. Each society and branch must take delivery of the books and documents from the auditor at its own expense. Delivery by an auditor to a society or branch of the annual return, Balance Sheet and special report or any other document relating to an audit may be transmitted through the post free, the envelope or cover being franked “T.T.G.S.” and superscribed in clear legible handwriting with the signature and designation of the sender and the date sent, for the purpose.

61. Every auditor who fails to comply with any of the provisions of these Regulations imposing a duty on him is liable on summary conviction to a fine of five hundred dollars.

62. The committee of management in determining a levy authorised by the rules of a society or branch shall exercise a reasonable and honest discretion in estimating the amount that the levy may be expected to realise. The committee shall not make a larger or heavier levy than that which reasonably suffices to satisfy the purpose for which the levy may lawfully be made.
63. A book shall be kept for the purpose of recording all levies imposed upon members by a society or branch during each year, and of the estimated results of the levies, and of the reason for each such levy, and of the purposes for which the moneys arising thereby have been applied. The record shall contain the particulars in the form set forth in Part IV of the Second Schedule to the Act.

64. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in the Rules of a society or branch, the society or branch shall not, save with the written consent of the Registrar, impose a levy or levies which shall in the aggregate in relation to a Building Fund exceed the sum of five dollars, or in relation to a Banner Fund the sum of one dollar respectively, payable by any member of the society or branch.

65. The committee of management may make such additional levies from time to time upon all members of the society or branch as is necessary, in the opinion of the committee of management, to prevent any deficit arising in the management fund, and the additional levies shall be binding on the members of the society or branch notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in the Rules or constitution of the society or branch.

66. Where a portion of the income of a society or branch is derived from the receipt of rents a proper rent-roll shall be kept by the society or branch, and every society and branch owning or holding property bringing in rent shall pay a commission at the usual or customary rate to an agent or other person on the amount of rent collected by him. Where a society or branch has paid any sums by way of commission in respect of the collection of rent the amount so paid or allowed shall be stated on the rent-roll of the society or branch.

67. (1) Where the Rules provide that elections be held or that financial officers be appointed semi-annually or at any other time during a financial year, the committee of management shall cause a proper check of the books of account to be made at the time of the election or appointment and a certificate shall thereupon be issued under the hands of the trustees to the treasurer certifying the amount of cash in his hands on the date the check was made.

(2) A similar check shall be made at the end of a financial year and a similar certificate issued by the trustees, and the balance found to be in the hands of the treasurer shall thereupon be forthwith deposited by the treasurer in a savings bank and the receipt or deposit slip produced to the trustees. The trustees shall provide the treasurer with moneys required by him for the purposes of the business of the society if necessary.

68. A detailed statement of receipts and expenditure in connection with the annual Anniversary celebrations of every society shall be prepared yearly by the officer or officers responsible therefor and presented to the committee of management with the necessary supporting vouchers, invoices and documents. The statement shall be submitted for audit by the society together with its accounts.

69. (1) In all cases where under the Rules of a society or branch a bond is required to be given by a treasurer, the bond shall, except where the Registrar otherwise orders, be given in an amount not less than double the amount of money to be placed in the possession or control of the treasurer and with at least one surety in a like sum.

(2) In no case under the Rules of a society or branch may the bond required to be given by any other officer having receipt or charge of money be less than one-half of the amount required from the treasurer, with at least one surety in a like sum.

(3) In all cases under the Rules of a society or branch the bond required to be given by a trustee shall, except where the Registrar otherwise orders, be in a sum not less than one thousand dollars with at least one surety in a like sum.

70. Bonds shall be attested by a Justice of the Peace or Commissioner of Affidavits who shall take care, as far as possible, that the sureties to bonds are responsible persons. Sureties to bonds must testify. Every bond shall upon execution be filed in the office of the Registrar without the payment of any fee.

71. A bond may be continuing to the extent that an officer re-elected to the said office in a society or branch for a consecutive term or terms need not furnish a fresh bond, and the surety thereto may therein undertake to become bound, without further attestation, in respect of any such consecutive term or terms of office to be held by the principal in the society or branch. The committee of management of every society or branch shall at least once in every year verify the existence of the sureties to bonds furnished by officers.

72. In the event of any epidemic, excessive sickness, emergency or other unforeseen contingency impairing the funds of a society or branch the committee of management of the society or branch may by a resolution of the majority of its members reduce the benefits payable or afforded under its Rules or impose a special levy or levies upon the members of the society or branch and the reduction of benefits or special levy or levies shall be binding on the members of the society or branch notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in its Rules or constitution.

73. Where the committee of management of a society or branch determines by resolution to reduce the amount payable in respect of any benefit under its Rules on the grounds of epidemic, excessive sickness, emergency or for other good cause, a copy of every such resolution signed by the secretary and countersigned by the president or chief executive officer of the society or branch shall be sent to the Registrar and until that copy is so sent and an acknowledgment received therefor the resolution shall not take effect. The committee of management shall also cause a notification of every such reduction of benefit to be hung up in a conspicuous place in the registered office of the society or branch for a period of not less than two months or to be mentioned during at least four consecutive general meetings of the society or branch, whichever is the less.
74. Every nomination made by a member, and every revocation and variation of a nomination, shall be recorded by the society or branch, and for that recording the Rules of the society or branch may require the member to pay a sum not exceeding one dollar.

75. Before any account in respect of the funeral expenses of a deceased member of a society or branch is paid by the society or branch under the provisions of section 53(3) or section 54(1) of the Act, the same shall be submitted for the consideration and verification of the Registrar who shall examine and compare the amount or amounts stated therein with current rates and if any amount set forth therein is unreasonable, excessive, irrelevant or not bona fide such amount shall not be payable out of the funds of the society or branch. No society or branch shall be liable to be sued in respect of any amount disallowed as aforesaid by the Registrar.

76. When a person is at the time of his death a member in good standing of more than one society or branch his funeral expenses shall, unless he has otherwise directed, be defrayed out of the moneys payable on his death by such societies or branches in proportion to the respective amounts payable by such societies or branches, and the balance thereof shall be paid to those entitled or the nominee or nominees as the case may be. Any person having a claim to any such moneys may require an account of the funeral expenses to be submitted to the Registrar and the previous regulation shall be applicable to the same mutatis mutandis. This regulation shall also be applicable where a society or branch has under section 53(3) or section 54(1) of the Act paid or become liable for the payment of the funeral expenses of a deceased member who was at the time of his death also a member in good standing of other societies or branches. The Registrar may at any time call upon a society or branch to submit to him a statement or account showing the manner in which the moneys paid or payable by it on the death of the member have been applied, the name or names of the person or persons to whom the same have been so paid and the balance, if any, in its possession. Upon the Registrar certifying the sum so due to any person hereunder and the person or persons by whom the same is payable such sum shall be recoverable at law as a debt by such person against the person or persons by whom the same is payable.

77. The committee of management of every society and branch shall have the right, and every member of every such society and branch shall afford to the committee of management of the society or branch, an opportunity to examine, through its medical, dental or optical officer, as the case may be, the person of the said member when and as often as it may reasonably require while a claim for benefits is pending or within a reasonable time thereafter notwithstanding any provisions contained in the Rules or constitution of the society or branch to the contrary.

78. (1) The Registrar or any person authorised in writing under section 72 or 73 of the Act shall, in addition to any other powers, authorities and privileges assigned to him respectively thereunder, have power to do all or any of the following things:

(a) to make such examination and enquiry as may be necessary to ascertain whether the provisions of the Act relating to a society or branch are complied with;

(b) to enter the registered office or place of meeting of the society or branch and inspect any cards, vouchers, documents, accounts, returns, books, ledgers, funds, securities, moneys and effects of the society or branch thereof at all reasonable times of the day or night, but so as not to impede or obstruct the working of the society or branch;

(c) to examine into the administration of benefits by the society or branch and make enquiries respecting the state and condition of any member of the society or branch and for such purposes to enter any premises where he is, or may be, stated to be, at all reasonable hours during the daytime; and to examine into the payment of the benefits paid, alleged to have been paid, or required to be paid, to him under the Rules of the society or branch, from time to time in force, and all or any matters and things connected with or relating to the health, care and treatment of members of the society or branch in receipt of benefits or claiming the same and the imposition or attempted imposition by members in respect of any benefits upon the funds of the society or branch; and \[(d)\] to exercise such other powers as may be necessary for carrying the Act into effect.

(2) Every person authorised as aforesaid shall be furnished by the Registrar with a certificate of his appointment, and on applying for admission to any premises or place for the purposes of the Act or these Regulations shall, if so required, produce the certificate.

79. No society or branch shall save by resolution of a majority of the members present and entitled to vote in general meeting declare any person to be a pensioner on its funds. At least fourteen (14) days’ notice of the meeting and intended resolution shall be given to such person. Every pensioner shall be provided without charge with a card or document signed by the secretary and countersigned by the president containing the name and registered number of the society or branch, the name, age and address of the person declared to be a pensioner, the reason for the declaration and the date from which the person is declared to be a pensioner as aforesaid.

80. Every society and branch shall keep and maintain in a book (to be known as the List of Pensioners) a list of the pensioners upon its funds, and the secretary shall immediately duly record therein the particulars herein required of every person declared to be a pensioner of the society or branch. Every such list shall contain the name, age, address, and reason for the declaration of pensionable status in respect of every person recorded therein and shall be open to inspection at all reasonable times by members of the society or branch without fee.

81. Nothing herein shall prevent a member who has become a pensioner of a society or branch from being by majority vote of the members present and entitled to vote at a general meeting of the society or branch taken off the List of Pensioners and from regaining his previous status as an ordinary member subject to such terms and conditions as the society or branch may impose. A note to such effect shall however be made by the secretary in the List of Pensioners against the name of every pensioner who has gained his status as an ordinary member and the date thereof.

82. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in the Rules or constitution of a society or branch every pensioner respectively thereof, who has against his will been restored to the status of an ordinary member with the duties and obligations attendant thereon as required under the Rules of the society or branch, shall be entitled to apply to the Registrar, who may if he considers the restoration to be unfair or inequitable in the circumstances of the case, order him to be retained as a pensioner of the society or branch or make such other order as the justice of the case may require.

83. Notwithstanding anything contained in the Act or in the Rules or constitution of a society or branch to the contrary every member of the committee of management of a society or branch shall in every calendar year be entitled to leave at the full salary or allowance payable in respect of his particular office therein for the following periods:

(a) fourteen days’ vacation leave; and
(b) a period not exceeding fourteen days in respect of sickness on the production of a medical certificate stating that the member is incapacitated by reason of illness from carrying out his duties as such member, without prejudice to the rights or privileges to which he may otherwise be entitled as a financial member in good standing.

However, not more than two members of the committee of management shall be granted vacation leave at one and the same time.

84. It shall not be requisite for any person acting for or on behalf of any member of the committee of management absent on vacation leave or on sick leave for the respective periods in regulation 83 to enter into a bond in respect of the fulfilment of his acting duties. The committee of management shall make all acting appointments.

85. A society or branch may grant out of its Reserve Fund to any officer who has been in the service of a society for an unbroken period of at least twenty years, and who is more than fifty-five years of age, and whose services are no longer required, a sum not exceeding the aggregate of his average annual salary or other remuneration for the next preceding three years payable in such manner as the society or branch may decide.

86. Forms and other documents prescribed under the provisions of the Act or of these Regulations shall be strictly adhered to, and the Registrar may in default of compliance therewith return any such form, or other document to the society, branch, officer or other person sending or tendering the same for such further entries or amendments as he may deem necessary; but where the circumstances so require, forms to the like effect with the necessary modifications, subject to the approval of the Registrar, shall be used provided that all such forms are in substantial compliance with the requirements of the Act and the Regulations made thereunder.

87. A member of the committee of the society or branch shall not vote or take part in any matter before the committee or general body of the society or branch in which he has directly or indirectly any interest.
